6th February 2025

Dear Parents and Guardians,

We are writing to inform you about our upcoming celebration of World Book Day, which will take place on the 6th of March 2025. This year's theme is inspired by the delightful children's book, "The Day the Crayons Quit," and we have planned a variety of engaging activities for our students.

On this special day, children are encouraged to dress up as their favourite literary character or as a crayon colour to embrace the theme. We kindly ask for your support in helping your child choose a costume that reflects their chosen character or colour.

In addition to the themed dress-up event, we are excited to announce that there will be a book sale during school hours, organised by FORPS. We invite you to donate any books your child no longer reads. These will be made available for purchase at just £1 per book. This initiative not only promotes literacy but also encourages our children to share books with others in our school community. More details will be shared by FORPS soon.

Please note that due to the difficulty of changing costumes, face paint, etc., there will be no swimming for any classes on this day.

To conclude our day of festivities, we will be hosting a bedtime story session at 5pm. We welcome children to return to school dressed in their pyjamas to share a story in designated classrooms. During this time, parents are invited to gather in the school hall, where we will hold a presentation on the importance of reading. This will be an excellent opportunity to explore how we can support our children's literacy development together. At the conclusion of the bedtime story session, children will be ready for pick-up at 5.45pm.

Thank you for your continued support and engagement in our school community. We look forward to a delightful World Book Day filled with creativity, learning, and the joy of reading.

Yours sincerely,
Mrs Tapsell and Miss Newe
